| CRCA Media Partners Standard of Conduct |
|--|

Preface

All approved media partners are representatives of the Colorado Reined Cow Horse Association (CRCA) and as such must comply with all applicable National Reined Cow Horse Association (NRCHA) and CRCA bylaws and rules and conduct themselves in a professional manner that fosters a welcoming environment for all owners, exhibitors and spectators in attendance. Conduct should take into consideration the diversity of owners, exhibitors and spectators in attendance, especially youth.

The CRCA expects all its media partners to know and follow this Standard of Conduct. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action, including termination of media credentials and removal from the event premises. Any waivers of this Code must be approved by the CRCA President or his or her designee.

If you have a question about the Standard of Conduct or believe that someone may be violating the Standard, contact the CRCA Communications Committee Chairperson or the CRCA President or his or her designee.

I. Subject Privacy

All approved media partners must respect the privacy and dignity of the CRCA members and athletes, especially in sensitive situations. They must obtain consent from each exhibitor or owner before taking any photographs or videos of them or their horses.

II. Professionalism

All approved media partners must conduct themselves in a professional manner. This includes dressing appropriately, treating show management and staff with respect and fostering a welcoming environment for all owners, exhibitors and spectators in attendance. Conduct should take into consideration the diversity of owners, exhibitors and spectators in attendance, especially youth.

III. Honesty and Integrity

All approved media partners must be honest and transparent in their dealings with show management and staff. They must not manipulate or deceive their clients, deprecate their colleagues, or misrepresent their work.

IV. Respect for copyright laws

All approved media partners must respect all applicable copyright laws and ensure that they have the necessary permissions to use and distribute their work.

V. Fair business practices

All approved media partners must conduct their business in a fair and transparent manner. This includes their relations with clients, colleagues, and show management and staff.

By signing this Standard of Conduct, the approved media partner agrees to uphold the standards and values of the CRCA and understands that the reputation of the CRCA depends on the actions of its management and show staff including its media partners.
